

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Ireland: Disability in a Diverse Society

CEP 470 is an approved BHS course for B category credit. Upon successful completion of this program, students who sign up for the Specialization will be considered to have completed one course toward the B category requirements.

The content of the CEP 490 credits vary per student on this particular study abroad program due to the nature of the research you will complete. As a result, if you would also like credit for the independent study, please submit a substitution request for consideration by BHS directors. Research projects with the potential for approval will make use of a humanities perspective on issues in science, health, or medicine. You can see the substitution request process on the BHS website, but you must sign up for the Specialization before you submit a request.

You must speak to the BHS advisor to get credit for these classes, as substitutions will need to be made in Degree Navigator. To make an advising appointment, go to bhs.msu.edu and follow the instructions on the “Make as Advising Appointment” page. Feel free to use the table below to plan your completion of the program requirements.
